About Katharine White MacPhail

Katharine White MacPhail, Principal at dEmios Architects in Arlington, MA has been working on residential projects of all sizes in the greater Boston area since 1996. She is sought after for her ability to turn residential projects around quickly, and for her competent yet light-hearted approach to architecture. Her specialty is transforming the older homes so prevalent in Massachusetts, bringing them to the next level without sacrificing their character. MacPhail shares her knowledge and experience through her renovation seminars and now her podcast.

MacPhail is a registered architect in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and a Leed Accredited Professional. She received a Master of Architecture from Southern California Institute of Architecture (SCI-Arc) in January of 1996. While at SCI-Arc, she pursued projects and theory related to the study of the architecture of the "everyday". Upon completing her MArch, Katharine was an adjunct studio instructor for the Department of Architecture at Wentworth Institute of Technology in Boston.

Katharine also holds a BA in Art History from Mount Holyoke College where she fell in love with classical antiquities and later completed some graduate work in Historic Preservation at Boston University before pursuing a career in architecture. MacPhail has been involved with local politics for a number of years, and just finished 13 years of homeschooling her 3 children, plans parties and events for a number of non-profit groups, serves as the Secretary for the Boston Scottish Fiddle Club and plays with the Boston Scottish Fiddle Orchestra. She is the manager for the all-girl string quartet Scottish Fish.
